

NURSES: IMPROVE YOUR DIABETES KNOWLEDGE

To mark World Diabetes Day 2020, a new online course on the Role of the Diabetes Educator is available FREE for a limited period

Learn how to help people with diabetes understand and manage their condition

This online course in the IDF School of Diabetes will help nurses and other health professionals to effectively support people with diabetes and promote healthy lifestyles and self-management to achieve optimal control of the condition.

Course content includes:

- The role of the diabetes educator
- The need for therapeutic education of people with diabetes
- The role of the multidisciplinary team

This online course is accredited by the European Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education [EACCME]. Upon completion, you will earn 1 EACCME credit and a course certificate.

Register today at:

idfdiabeteschool.org/short-course/diabetes-educator

“

The knowledge acquired from this course was invaluable. It increased my knowledge and understanding of diabetes and the important role the diabetes educator plays.”

*Health professional
Saint Lucia*

